“VOX-JURIS Society”, ADGIPS, Centre of Legal Education organized Annual Youth Parliament, 2023 on 14th and 15th of March, 2024.

Objective:

The objective of the Youth Parliament is to strengthen the roots of democracy, inculcate healthy habits of discipline, tolerance of the view of others and to enable the student community to know about practices and procedures of the Parliament.

Brief Report:

The students of “VOX-JURIS Society”, ADGIPS and Centre of Legal Education organized the National Youth Parliament, 2024. The event started by the first session of the day. The agenda of the Lok Sabha was the deliberation on the scope of the right to privacy and data protection. The student representative is part of the Government, and took the stand for the legality of the right to privacy and data protection. The discussion started with the Leader of the House presenting the opening statement as well as laying down the idea of how the Government was trying to implement the right to privacy and data protection. The first session concluded with the debate on whether the right to privacy and data protection are two intertwined concepts that are crucial in today's digital age. While distinct, they work together to empower individuals and safeguard their personal information.

The next session started with a flurry of properly researched debate between the Government and the opposition after the opposition presented a draft that agreed to only one point of the draft by the government. The student representative had active participation in that debate, raising Point of Information as well as raising motions. This session was the most enlightening as well as enchanting amongst all the sessions. The quality of debate and the oration was magnificent as well as educational. The competition came to an end with comments from the panel of Executive Board and with declaration of the result.

Learning Outcome:

The event was a great success in terms of generating enthusiasm and interest among the students as reflected in their active participation in the event. Students get to know that the Right to Privacy is a fundamental human right recognized globally. It encompasses the ability to control personal information and make choices about how we share ourselves with the world. This includes aspects like:

- Bodily privacy: Control over our physical bodies and decisions related to them.
- Informational privacy: The right to decide who has access to our personal data and how it's used.
- Privacy of communication: The right to communicate freely without undue surveillance.

Data protection refers to the legal and regulatory frameworks that govern the collection, storage, use, and disclosure of personal information. It ensures that this information is handled ethically and responsibly. Key principles of data protection include:

- Transparency: Individuals should be informed about how their data is being collected and used.
- Consent: Data collection and processing should generally happen with a user's informed consent.
- Security: Organizations must implement appropriate security measures to protect personal data from unauthorized access or misuse.
- Data minimization: Only the necessary amount of data should be collected and retained.
- Individual rights: Individuals should have the right to access, rectify, or erase their personal data.

Beneficiary: Undergraduate Students of the various colleges.
